PUBLISHED BY HAPGOOD & ADAMS.

A Weekly Family Journal, Devoted to Freedom, Agriculture, Literature, Education, Local Intelligence, and the News of the Day.

ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE

VOL. 40, NO 22.

WARREN, TRUMBULL COUNTY, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1856.

Poetry.

MY HEID IS LIKE TO REIND, WILLIE.

composition of the late WILLIAM MOTHERWELL, and peallarly marked by that deep justhes, and carnest feel- mocessins ! ing, which characterises the national poetry of Scotland. Many may recollect his beautiful "Jeannie Mor-

My held is like to reind, Willie, My heart is like to break-

I'm wearin' aff my feet, Willie, I'm dyin' for your sake! Oh, lay your cheek to mine, Willie, Your hand on my breast-bane-Oh, say ye'll think on me, Willie,

When I am dead and gane! It's vain to comfort me, Willie, Sair grief maun ha'e its will-But let me rest upon your breast, To sab and greet my fill: Let me set upon your knee, Willie

Let me shed me by your hair, And look into the face, Willie, I never sall see mair. I'm sittin' on your knee, Willie,

For the last time in my life-A pair heart-broken thing, Willie, A mither, yet nae wife. Ay, press your hand upon my heart, And press it mair and mair-Or it will burst the silken twine, Sae strange is its despair. Oh, wae's me for the hour Willie, Ob, wae's me for the time, Willie, That our first tryst was set

Oh, wae's for me the leamin' green Where we were want to gae-And wae's me for the destinie.

Oh! dinna mind my words, Willie, I downa seek to blume But oh! it's hard to live. Willie And dree a wide warld's shame! Hot tears are hailin' ower your cheek, And hailin' ower your chip:

Why weep ye sae for worthless For sorrow and for sin? I'm weary o' the world, Willie, And sick wi'n' I see-

I canns live as I ha'e lived, Or he as I should be. But fauld unto your beart, Willie, The heart that still is thine-And kiss once mair the white, white check,

A stoun' gaes through my held, Willie, A sair stoun' through my heart-

Thy brow ere we twa pairt; Anither, and anither yet! How fast my life-strings break! Farewell! Farewell! through you kirkyard Step lightly for my sake!

The lay rock in the lift, Willie, Will sing the morn as merrille Abune the clay-cauld deid; And this green turf we're sittin' on,

Wi' dew draps shimmerin' sheen, Will hap the heart that luvit thee As warld has seldom seen

On land where'er ye be-That ne'er luvit one but thee!

And Oh! think on the cauld, cauld mools. That kiss the check: that kiss the chin. Ye pever shall kiss mair had befallen the "captain" was next re- "'It's a gwine to friz, rekin." lated. He had been travelling with a in the mountains near Santa Fe, when swer to the question. deep valley in which they had encamp- too.' themselves fairly "in the trap."

"Above and below the valley was shouted backchoked with snow five fathoms deep .- " 'C'est vrui; il gele; il gelo!" Vast fissures-barrancas-were filled

Two men had already disappeared. ation, and offered numerous seams and scalping knife. ledges; but now there was a coating of "At that moment a peculiar cry atice and snow upon them that rendered tra ted our attention, and, looking on, although it was now freezing no long- the ground with his hatchet. er, and the snow would not bear our "What is there? what is there valley proved idle; and we gave them many languages. over, yielding ourselves, in a kind of "Yam yam! yam yam! replied the reckless despair, to wait for-we scarce Indian, still digging at the frozen ground.

around the fires, now and then casting the Delaware had chopped off. looks of gloomy inquiry around the sky. "I recognized a plant well known to tled with flakes slanting earthward, for ful convolvulus, the Iponea leptophy'la spot cheered the aching eye.

still free from the snow-drift, on account serves to sustain human life. From these we obtained our fires; but off as from the surface of a rock.

and destroyed us in detail. 'I ney must ed men were strewed over the ground, about three miles from Lawrence, they turned home, feeling that the cause of the Doctor, "I would advise a compromise but the bear was nowhere to be seen. about three miles from Lawrence, they idea and give them. cook upon them ?

THE STATE OF STATE OF

out food ! Without food, though not ab- | over him !' bolted their gun-covers, and the cat-skin in a few minutes a dozen pieces of pine tain men.

them in the morning. That was gone, it would proved a 'fat old hoss.'

-Even the stern men around them legs, and stood fifmly. of still stranger, still wilder expression, his huge crescent shaped horns.

" 'It clars a leetle, out tharawa !' wards the East.

think-

feet, looking in the direction indicated. breaking through the drift. altogether.

had not gained above two hundred vards, ror !

en silence. Garey continued pacing mountains-the grizzly bears! An adventure with grizzly bears which his drawling manner, remarked-time, but now the path, on account of changed, as if by magic. Several leapthe deep soft snow, was rendered impass- ed to their feet. Gode, the Canadian, able. When morning broke they found skilled in snow-craft, ran to a bank, and

"A cold wind soon after set in, and with the drift; and it was perilous to at- cheered by the brightening prospect, we tempt penetrating in either direction .- began to think of the fires, that during ters. our late moments of reckless indifference "On each side of our camp rose the had been almost suffered to burn out.wells of the canon, almost vertical, to the The Delawares, seizing their tomahawks. height of a hundred feet. There we commenced backing at the pines, while might have climbed had the weather others dragged forward the fallen trees. been soft, for the rock was a trap found lopping off their branches with the keen the ascent impossible. The ground had around, we perceived one of the Indians been frozen hard before the storm came drop suddenly upon his knees, striking its height. Several of the men, less firebrand—the bole of a burning pine-weight. All our efforts to get out of the shouted several voices, in almost as

" 'The Injun's right, it's mun root ! "For three days we sat shivering said Garey, picking up some leaves which

The same dull gray for an answer, mot- the mountain man-a rare, but wonderit still continued to snow. Not a bright The name of 'man root' is given to it by the hunters from the similarity of its "The little platform on which we rest. root in shape, and sometimes in size, to ed-a piece of two or three acres-was the body of a man. It is esculent, and only spoilin' yer tools. Cut down a tion.

these affections were present. The last for some time-the hunters, tickled with It only stung them into fiercer rage. string of tasajo, hitherto economized for the novelty of unearthing the 'old man' "It was a fearful moment when the bears, suddenly sprang to his feet, extheir sake, had been parcelled out to ready roasted, and speculating whether last shot was fired, and still not an ene- claiming-and whence was their next morsel to "A hollow crack sounded from above, and, clutching the hatchets and hunting- doctor !"

or twice I fancied that I observed a look pice at two leaps, lighting each time on bodies were precipitated into our midst. where was the fifth of the bears? Four another class, the Atchinson men, par when the black ring forms around the For a moment, both parties-hunmen gaze guilty-like at each other. O in mute wonder. It was but a moment bears, the ringing of the tomahawks struggling through the drift. God! it was fearful! The half robber The men made a rush for their rifles, from skulls like flint, the deep dull 'thud' "Several commenced loading their ri- wards made him a leader in their camp. In a dozen springs he had reache I the fearful scene!

in two hours more it had ceased snowing about fifty paces further on we found him number of their assailants !

ple a road through the drift. It was a reached us from the platform—the vells a man.

"We fell down around the fires in sul- glance-the dreaded monsters of the knife.

weakened by famine.

"Well! and if it does ?" asked one chase of the Cimmaron, and hunger and ed over and over in the snow. ical pantomime!

no more than the pricking of as many me from his deadly embrace?

Cowardly slinks-wah!'

surface, in all about fifty or sixty trees, the hard clay, but their hatchets glinted and destroyed us in detail. They must ed men were strewed over the ground, ton, by way of Lawrence On their way, army disbanded and each one of us re snow.

my the less. We flung away the guns,

Dios de mi almo!' were heard only in low looked up. A large object -an animal "We had taken our stand close to the nized the features of that individual, the fighting this matter out." He and his murmurs, as some colder blast sweep -was whirling outward and downward rock. It was our design to have the absence of whose brown locks had pro- men then turned round and rode off. down the canon. In the face of those from a ledge that projected half-way up first blow, as the animals, for the most duced such a metamorphosis as, I be- Immediately following this, Gov. Shanbeautiful creatures might be read that the cliff. In an instant it struck the part, came stern foremost down the lieve, was never effected by means of non issued his proclamation, calling on uncomplaining patience—that high en- earth, head foremost, with a loud bump, cliff. In this we were disappointed. On borrowed hair. durance-so characteristic of the Hispa- and, bounding to the height of several reaching the ledge some ten feet from "Here's your scalp, Doc,' cried Ga- enforcing the laws. This call was anfeet, came back with a somersault on its the platform, the foremost bear halted, rey, running up with the wig; 'by the swered for the most part, by the residents bore up with less fortitude. Rude caths "An involuntary hurrah!' broke from seend. The next moment, his compan- the hunter seized the German in his wild ted, from twelve to fitteen hundred men. were uttered from time to time, and the hunters, who all recognized, at a ions, maddened with wounds, came embrace. teeth ground together, with that strange glance, the 'Carnero Cimmaron,' or tumbling down upon the same ledge, "Wounded men were all around, and styled, enrolled themselves under gene wild look that heralds insanity. Once big-horn.' He had cleared the preci- and with fierce growls, the five huge commenced crawling together. But rals, appointed by Gov. Shonnon, while

> "Then came the desperate struggle, only had escaped by the cliff. which I cannot describe,-the shouts of "Yonder he goes!' cried a voice, own appointment. A trial of Coleman selvidge of the snow, and plunged into "Over the platform bears and men cry came from the spot, that eaused our mission to the destruction of the houses of starch, gluten and some sugar. Bolted fessing christains and ministers of the 'It was the voice of the trapper, Ga its yielding banks; but at the same in went rolling and struggling, in the wild blood to run cold again. The Indians some of its leading residents, the suppresrey, who had risen and stood pointing to- stant, several rifles cracked, and the battle of life and death. Through the leaped to their feet, and seizing their sion of the newspapers published there, white wreath was crimsoned behind him. trees, and into the deep drift, staining tomahawks, rushed to the gap. They and a consent to the service of a number "In an instant we were all upon our He still kept on, however, leaping and the snow with their mingled blood ! knew the meaning of that cry-it was of warrants upon those who had set at Here, two or three men were engaged the death-yell of their tribe! Sure enough, there was a break in the "We struck into his track, and follow- with a single foe-there, some brave "They entered the road that we had islature, so called. lead-colored sky-a yellowish streak, ed with the eagerness of hungry wolves hunter stood battling alone. Several trampled down in the morning, followed These demands were answered by the that widened out as we continued gazing We could tell by the numerous gouts were sprawling upon the ground. Every by those who had loaded their guns -- most vigorous preparations for a bloody -the flakes fell lighter and thinner, and that he was shedding his life blood, and moment the bears were lessening the We watched them from the platform with resistance. Messengers were sent to the

"Half-a-dozen of us, shouldering our "A shout apprised our companions of mencement of the struggle. On regain- stoor' was slowly settling down. It was responded to by hundreds, who were rifles, struck down the valley. We our success, and we had commenced ing my feet, I saw the animal that had was plain that the struggle had ended. on their way to the seat of war, within would make one more attempt to tram- dragging back the prize, when wild cries felled me hugging the prostrate body of "We still stood waiting in breathless half an hour from the time of receiving and after struggling for two hours, we led with oaths and exclamations of ter- clutching its haggy skin. I did this to drift. At length they had reached the had in general been done in anticipation Here we caught a glimpse of what lay "We ran to the entrance. On reach- so were we all. I struck with all my ominous stillness, that lasted for a mo- armed to the teeth, and numbering about before us. As far as the eye could ing it, a sight was before us that caused force, stabbing the animal in the ribs. ment, and then the Indian's fate was an eight hundred, when on the ground at reach, it rested upon the same deep im. the stontest to tremble. Hunters, Inpassable masses. Despair and hunger dians and women were running to and turned suddenly, and reared upon me - wailing up the valley. It was the dirge went to work both night and day in the paralyzed our exertions, and dropping fro in frantic confusion, uttering their I endeavoied to avoil the encounter, but of a Shawano warrior! off one by one, we returned to the camp. varied cries. We knew our enemy at a ran backward, fending him off with my "They had found their brave com- short space of time, these defences were

A BATTLE WITH GRIZZLY BEARS. back and forth, now glancing up at the "There were five of them-five in drift, and fell over on my back. Next nist!" [We extract the following from the sky, at times kneeling down, and running sight—there might be others in the back- moment, the heavy body was precirita-"Hunters' Feast," a new work by Capt, his hand over the surface of the snow, ground. Five were enough to destroy ted upon me, the sharp claws pierced At length he approach the fire, and in our whole party, caged as we were, and deep into my shoulder-I inhaled the monster's fetid breath; and striking wild-"They had reached the cliff in the ly with my right arm, still free, we roll-strange party—the "Scalp Hunters,"— of his comrades, without caring for an an- disappointment were visible in their horrid aspects. Two of them had already felt myself growing weaker and weaker; armed force, chiefly from the State of had been entered into with the Governor. they were overtaken by a sudden and "'Wal, an' iv it does,' repeated the crawled close to the scarp, and were it was the loss of blood. I shouted-a Missouri. heavy fall of snow that rendered further trapper, 'we'll walk out o' this hyar jug pawing over and snuffing the air, as if despairing shout—but it could not have This affair, like most other questions, started for home to visit their families. progress impossible. The "canon," a afore sun-up, an' upon a good hard trail scarching for a place to descend. The been heard at ten paces' distance. Then has two sides, and the story will be told While on their way, sometime before dark, other three reared themselves up on their there was a strange hissing sound in my in a different way by both pro-slavery they were overtaken by a party of horse ed, was difficult to get through at any "The expression of every face was hams, and commenced manœuvring with light flashed across my and anti-slavery partisans. The same men from the enemy's camp, and ordered their fore-arm, in a human-like and com- eyes; a burning object passed over my facts, it is well known, appears different- to stop. Upon refusal to obey, several face, scorching the skin; there was a ly when viewed from different stand shots were fired at them, one of which "We were in no condition to relish this smell as of singing hair; I could hear points; bearing this in mind, I shall en- took effect, the ball hitting Thomas in the drawing his hand along the combing, amusement. Every man hastened to voices, mixed with the roars of my adarm himself, those who had emptied versary; and all at once the claws were ry side, to give you, not my opinion nor shot." During the few moments he livtheir rifles hurriedly reloading them. drawn out of my flesh, the weight was my inferences, but the principal facts ed, his brothers rode by his side and sup-"'For your life don't !' cried Garey, lifted from my breast, and I was alone! connected with this matter. Having my-ported him in his saddle, the murderers catching at the gun of one of the hun- "I rose to my feet, and rubbing the self been on the ground as a volunteer in still in hot pursuit. When life had fled, snow out of my eyes. looked around. I defense of Lawrence, and being eye and and no further assistance could be ren-"The caution came too late; half-a- could see no one. I was in a deep holear witness of the greater portion of the dered, the brothers being hard pressed dozen bullets were already whistling up- low made by our struggles, but I was events connected with the siege, I shall sprang from their horses and fled to an

"The effect was just what the trapper "The snow all around me was dyed to had anticipated. The bears, maddened a crimson; but what had become of my by the bullets, which had harmed them terrible antagonist? Who had rescued pins, dropped to their all-fours again, "I staggered forward to the open and with fierce growls, commenced deground. Here a new scene met my by the name of Coleman, and a Free and placed in a room of the "Free State "The scene of confusion was now at ning across the platform, with a huge high words about a matter of difference of troops whose only clamor was, "lead us brave than their comrades, ran off to tree-which he waved in the air. He ed flanks.

root prove a 'full-grown man,' it would out fingers were numbed with cold, and upon it, crown or sides, and it glistened their guns as if to shoot. "If I do," said gree which places them, I trust, beyond world. "Man never is, always to be "The women, wrapped in their tilinas, make a supper for our whole party; and our nerves weakened with hunger. Our in the clear light, like polished ivory. I B, "they will shoot me." . The eight the power of despots to overthrow. nestled closely in the embrace of father, with the cheering idea of supper, jokes bullets drew blood from the hideous was puzzled beyond expression, when a then cocked and raised their Sharp's ribrother, husband, and lover; for all were ventured upon the first we heard brutes, yet not a shot proved deadly. man-Garey-who had been felled upon the hospitalities bestowed upon the first we heard brutes, yet not a shot proved deadly. the platform by a blow from one of the forward." At this, the Sheriff's party ernor while in Lawrence-how high ly ment-the result of all his anxiety and and seeing our position, hesitated to de- livin' thunder! yer saved us all,' and of Missouri, numbering, as variously sta-

eye-when the muscles twitch and quiv- ters and game-seemed equally taken the hunters, the wilder yells of our In- as a light spray, rising above the snow- was had by the pro-slavery men, at Leer along gaunt famished jaws-when by surprise, and stood eyeing each other dian allies, the hoarse worrying of the wreath, showed that some animal was compton, which resulted in his complete discipline, voluntary at the best, had and the animal, recovering from the of the stabbing-knife, and now and then fles, intending to follow, and, if possible. Various and extravagant demands, emvanished under the levelling rod of a trance of astonishment, tossed back his a groan, as the crescent claw tore up secure him. The Doctor armed himself anating from the pro-slavery camp, were common suffering, and I trembled to horns, and bounded across the platform. the clinging muscle. O God! it was a with a fresh pine; but before these ar- made upon the citizens of Lawrence, rangements were completed, a strange such as a surrender of their arms, sub-

"I had been struck down at the com- reached the spot, we could see that the Territory, calling for help, and this call vain one. The snow was over our heads, of the men, the screams of women, mingsteady myself; I was weak and dizzy; scene of the struggle. There was an of "a - time coming." These men,

"All at once I came against a snow jed in the heart of his terrible antago the weapons of deadly conflict.

LETTER FROM KANSAS. Brown's Station, Kansas Ter.,)

Dec. 22, 1855.

no doubt, have got some report of the re- cations at Lawrence. On the afternoon confine my narrative chiefly to the things adjoining timber and escaped. upon well authemicated evidence.

State man, named Dow, had some Hotel," at that time the garrison of a body with Sharp's rifles, and were ordered to had been fought.

"We were now in the third day with- wheen o' these saplins and make a fire | "There was about a dozen of us, who | "I was still wondering who was the | "halt," which order the Sheriff's party | The documents signed by Gov. Shanstood up to it'-all the Delawares and hero of the firebrand, and where he had obeyed. One of the eight then asked if non, Gen. Robinson and Col. Lane, binding solutely without eating—the men had "The hint was instantly followed, and Shawnanoes, with Gary and the moun- come from. I have said he was a Mr. Branscom was among their number, them only, if binding at all, are such, that, strange-looking man. He was so-and to which Branscon, himself replied, "yes, if of any force or virtue, no positions of flans of their bullet-pouches, and were were piled upon the spot, and set on fire. "We kept firing at the bears as they like no one of our party that I could and I am a prisoner-I dont know what the Free State party are in the least change be satisfied. Rest is, therefore, the ulti-The following lines, wafted about the world like a now seen—the last shift but one—strip- "We stood around the burning branch- ran along the ledges in their zig-zag de- think of. His head was bald—no, not for." "Ride forward then," said the ed or compromised; on the contrary those mate object of all the energetic human ping the parfleche from the soles of their es with eager anticipation. Should the scent, but our rifles were out of order, bald, but naked—there was not a hair eight. The Sheriff and his men drew up positions have been strengthened to a de- action which we see around us in the Branscom got off his mule and joined the py they caused him to feel. Suffice it to of our fellow men, of like passions with "Go it, Doc! Three chyars for the eight. "Gentlemen," said the Sheriff, say, Governor Shannon and the people of us, with similar propensities and hopes,

"I want you to understand that I am no Kansas Territory understand each other, and fears and capacities of enjoyment and come? At long intervals, 'Ay de my! like the breaking of a dead tree. We knives, silently awaited our grizzly foes. "To my astonishment, I now recog-

the Militia of the Territory to aid him in Of these, the respectable class, as they are excellence, rallied under leaders of their acquital, and the Atchinson men after-naught the enactments of the Kansas Leg-anxious expectation, but before they Free State men in various parts of the silence, and watching the floating spray notice. But little time was spent before construction of forts, and in an incredible rade dead, with his scalping-knife bur- in complete readiness, and bristling with

The next act in the drama, was the murder of Thomas Burber. His resirence. From the beginning of the out-Before this letter reaches you, you will a number of days at work on the fortifi he with two brothers and a brother-in-law.

I know; the remainder I shall state only This victim crowned the second assault of the enemy, and as is the case of Dow, Beginning with those events immedi- the attack was boldly made upon an unately connected with the recent out armed man. Next morning the corpse of break, it appears that a Slave State man, Mr. Barber was brought into Lawrence, hide themselves in the snow, while oth- was chasing one of the bears, that, growlers commenced climbing the low pines! ing with rage and pain, was making eve. him, though the latter was unarmed,— not attack the enemy and attempt at least verized bicarbonate of soda without flour, rs commenced climbing the low pines! ing with rage and pain, was making every clearly and attempt at the verized bicarbonate of soda without flour, or clack the gals! cried Garey.— ry effort to reach the cliffs. Two others The only witness of this murder, as I am to drive them from the Territory? The 'Hyar, yer darned Spanish greaser! if were already half-way up, and evidentyer wont fight, hook on to the weemen a ly clambering with great difficulty, as man, it appears, soon after gave himself "Council" were, that negotiations were has germinated. City bakers in prepar. wheen o' yer, and tout them to the snow. the blood dripped back from their woundplaint, a warrant was issued, (by a just probably result in his removing the men alcohol, or rum into the dough, to promote ted to be worth nearly $300,000. "See to them, Doctor,' I shouted to "The bear that was pursued soon took lice or judge, holding office by the author- under his authority from the Territory, the rising. the German, who, I thought, might be to the rocks, and urged by the red brand ity of the repudiated Legislature of Kan- and thus save further bloodshed, and that This is the theory; and now will some best spared from the fight; and the next scorching his shaggy hams, was soon sas, to a Sheriff, by the same authority, moreover our action should be strictly of or femule amateurs of the glorious likely to be acceptable to people of sense, moment the doctor, assisted by several beyond the reach of his pursuer. The named Jones, who resides in Missouri,) a defensive character. This line of poli-Mexicans, was hurrying the terrified girls latter now made towards the fourth, that for the arrest of the witness, Branscom. cy was a hard one for our men to submit tical experiments, on flour from germi-printed, and consider how it would read; towards the spot where he had left the was still battling with two or three weak The ground of complaint against him to, yet on the whole, the "Council" preantagonists. This one was 'routed' in a was, anticipated violence on his part, to vailed. As was anticipated, the negoci-"Many of us knew that to hide under twinkling, and with yells of terror fol the lives and property of complainants. ations with Gov. Shannon ended in his the circumstances, would be worse than lowed his comrades up the bluff. The Jones and his posse, numbering fifteen issuing an order for the return of his A SPARTAN REPLY.—Dr. Robinson of its exposure to the wind. Straggling "In an instant, half-a-dozen men were useless. The fierce but sagacious brutes strange man looked around for the fifth. armed men, which was obeyed. The city of was asked by Governor Shannon, what giving away her sweethears to another es, stunted and leaft as, grew over its upon their knees, chipping and hacking would have discovered us one by one, It had disappeared. Prostrate, wound night, and started with him for Lecomp Lawrence, no longer besieged, our little the free State men would do if co

Very truly yours, JOHN BROWN, Jr.

GOOD BREAD. " Man cannot live by bread alone, or very well without it." On account of the rainy harvest of last season, much grown wheat is on hand, and will undoubtedly be forced into market; there writers of fiction. It is deemed so imfore it will be necessary for husbands, (in order to keep their wives in good humor,) to avoid purchasing flour from grown wheat. Good flour may generally be known. When squeezed by the hand, it bears the minute inpress of the ingers, and skin, longer than bad or adulterated flour. But, if unforturately, flour from grown wheat is already stowed away in the pantry, it will be convenient for the wife to know the modus operandi whereby bad bread may be avoided.

flour is richer in starch, while brown Gospel. Thus, men of corrupt minds are flour is richer in gluten, hence bread from unbolted flour is more nutritive than white rence upon the professed followers of the bread, but at the same time less digesti- Redeemer; and to believe that they, ble, (soluble.) When flour is mixed themselves, are by nature morally "rich with luke warm water to a thick paste, and increased with good, and have need covered with a board and remains for a of nothing," not knowing that they are uccessive changes.

it, having an acid, unpleasant smell, and of wretchedness within them; they may the dough has now the capacity of con- feel, at times, that they are indeed weary verting sugar into lactic acid. Second- and heavy-laden, and have need of rest: ly, the dough acquires a pleasant odor, but they will not resort to the Saviour. and with a solution of sugar, adds like According to Mr. Dickens, (who is good yeast; that is, decomposes sugar into al- authority) the professed followers of cohol and carbonic acid. A third change Christ are the most mean and heartless then ensues. The dough acquires an and despicable creatures in existence; acid taste, because the alcohol generated and shall they look in that direction for in the second process passes into acetic comfort? No-they can console them-the three states of decomposition, upon or fame shall be accomplished-when a the sugar depend upon the altered gluten. few more years of toil and trouble shall In the first change the gluten may be re- have passed away-when they shall have garded as a lactic acid ferment; the pulled down their barns, and built greatsecond an acoholic ferment; the third a er, and made room for all their goods, vinegar ferment. The first two changes they may say to their souls, "Eat, drink, occur rapidly in making bread, on account and be merry." There is but little reaof the heat and the ferment added pur- son to hope that such will ever find that break, he with his brothers had been for posely. The surface yeast of beer is the rest that remains to the people of God. most powerful alcoholic ferment, by which the sugar contained in the meal is resolved into alcohol and carbonic acid, which in the form of gas struggling to escape, fluency of speech in many men, and most renders the tough mass of dough light women, is owing to a scarcity of matter and porous. From the rapid heating of and of words, for whoever is master of the oven, the alcohol, carbonic acid and a language, and has a mind full of ideas, one half of the water employed, volatilize, will be apt in speaking to hesitate on the and cause the cellular partitions of the choice of both, whereas common speakers dough. The bread by baking attains have only one set of ideas, and one set solidity, and the interstices retain their of words to clothe them in, and these are form and place. The same changes will not occur in people come faster out of a public place flour from germinated wheat; for when when it is almost empty, than when a germination takes place in wheat, the crowd is at the door. starch and sugar of the seed, which are One great secret of domestic enjoysoluble, are absorbed by the radicle; at ment is too much overlooked-that of the same time oxygen gas, a constituent bringing our wants down to our circumpart of alcohol, is consumed and carbonic stances, instead of toiling to bring our ciracid gas is given off. Sugar, the com- cumstances up to our wants. Secret! pound of alcohol and carbonic acid, the Weil, it is; for few know it, and fewer generators of the porosity of light bread, practice it. The ballot box of political is wanting in flour from germinated wheat; economy is located on the family hearth. hence the running dough which ladies scold about. The slaves of Virginia A HINT TO MEDICAL COBBLERS .make light wheat bread, without yeast or When the mind's diseased, it's frquently soda, (called Carolina biscuit,) by a process not healing a man wants so much as which they call "pounding the air into fresh souling.

Carbonic acid gas, as applied to the all its tributaries is fifty-one thousand rising of bread, is often generated without miles, which is more than twice the the fermentation of sugar, by mixing pul- equatorial circumfrence of the earth.

the contents."

WHOLE NO. 2050.

For the Chronick REST.

"O where can rest be found !-

Rest is happiness. To be at rest is to blest." He looks forward to some future suffering, who are searching for rest, will, probably, never find it. The affectionate injunction of the Saviour, "Learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart," is disregarded. Teachers of a very different character have supplied his place. Perhaps the most efficient agents in misleading their fellow men, and bringing the christian character into contempt, have been some of our modern portant that the moral purity and the dignity of human nature should be manifest. ed and maintained, that these men of genius are zealously engaged in holding up to our admiring gaze that sublime benevolence which springs up in the natural heart, independently of divine influence, and makes christain charity ashamed of herself. Mr. Dickens, for instance, has furnished us with numerous imaginary specimens of "Nature's Noblemen," contrasted with most revolting pictures The principle constituents of flour, are of man, selfish, cruel, hard hearted protime in a warm place, it undergoes three "wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked." They may sometimes First, bubbles of air are evolved from be conscious of the existence of a spring selves with the thought that when some The different actions of the flour, in cherished plan for increasing their wealth always ready at the tongue's end. So

THE total length of the Mississippi and

BRIGHAM YOUNG, the Mormon, is repu-

ing, or entertaining; or affected, mis-

Way is the letter L like a young lady Because it makes over a lover.

chievous, or unmeaning.

Money may be the root of all evil, what were fires when we had no meat to "Look hyar! cried Garey; 'ye're and we resolved to carry it into execution had triumphed though no battle were met by a party of eight men, armed but little good can be effected without its were met by a party of eight men, armed but little good can be effected without its